THE COURT OF ELM COURT: Dogwoods, birch and disease-resistant elm trees planted in the quadrangle formed by Elm Court will in time provide shade and a pleasant vista for the residents of Princeton's newest housing project. The trees were a $5,000 donation from Merrill Lynch. The $3.7 million federally-funded project also received donations from the community which paid for extra lighting, two wheel-in showers and other amenities.

Montgomery Residents Gearing for Battle Over Widening of Rt. 206 to 4 Lanes

Montgomery residents are gearing up to fight a dualized Route 206 that is linked to the proposed Somerset Expressway on the north and the S-92 as it is presently proposed on the south.

Last week the state Department of Transportation released its voluminous Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) on the widening of a 14-mile segment of Route 206 through Montgomery. Approved before release by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) this statement must have public imput at a public hearing (scheduled for September 30 in Hillsborough High School) and may also be subject to written comment during an additional 30 day period. By law, the DOT must then address the concerns expressed before drafting the Final Environmental Impact Study, which also is subject to federal approval.

On Monday night, the Montgomery group known as CARS (Citizens for Appropriate Roadway Systems) that has been meeting regularly for the past 18 months, met to organize into task forces to address the assumptions in the DEIS in preparation for the September 30 public hearing. Thirty or more other citizens came to the meeting in the Harlingen Reformed Church "to find out what we can do."

While the DOT has been in the process of preparing the DEIS on the widening of Route 206, Montgomery has quietly been preparing its own traffic analysis with which to rebut DOT positions which it feels are "counter-productive." This is a term often used by CARS co-founder Daniel Huttar, who now sits on the Montgomery Township Committee as an elected official, to describe the DOT's proposals for Route 206.

The Township hired traffic consultants Abbington-Ney of East Windsor to conduct an analysis of traffic at various key intersections and under different existing and proposed highway conditions. And it has also hired a lawyer from the New York firm that has been fighting the Westway project to do "an exhaustive review" not only of whatever is put out by the DOT here, but also of Federal Highway Administration papers in Washington and Albany.

The DEIS on the widening of Route 206 deals only with the 14-mile segment from Route 518 to the Somerville

And Yet Another Mall Planned for Route One

A nine-screen movie theater, two restaurants, "specialty" shops and a 60,000 square foot medical-professional office are envisioned for yet another shopping mall on Route 1.

Plans for the shopping mall and office building at Route 1 and Meadow Road were laid out Monday night before the Site Plan Advisory Review Board of the West Windsor Planning Board. The proposal is a project of JMB Federated Realty in Cincinnati and Carnegie Center developers under a partnership called Meadow Road Associates.

Called Market Fair Shopping Center, it would contain 237,000 square feet of shopping space on a 40 acre tract adjoining the Carnegie Center. The proposed mall is just a mile south of the Route 1-Quaker Bridge Road intersection, where two malls already exist and a third, 135,000 square foot mall is planned.

The existing malls, Quaker Bridge and Mercer Mall, have 1.3 million and 300,000 square feet of commercial space, respectively. Plans for the third mall, Sonny Perrine One of Many Waiting to Move into Elm Ct.

Sonny Perrine, who was something of a Nassau Street landmark selling candy and pencils from his wheelchair in front of Woolworth's and the movie theatres, is returning to Princeton.

Mr. Perrine will be moving at the end of the month into Elm Court, Princeton Community Housing's 88-unit, low income housing for the elderly and disabled off Elm Road. The federally-financed project, subject of community controversy and bureaucratic delays, is just about ready for its first residents. All that is needed are the final building inspections for the granting of a certificate of occupancy from the Borough.

After his parents died, Mr. Perrine went to live in the Luther Arms in Trenton, a housing project for the elderly and disabled sponsored by the Lutheran Church. But a problem developed — the companion who took care of him either died or left — and he was sent to a nursing home, where he has languished ever since.

According to Lucy James of K.M. Light Realtors, managing agent for Elm Court, Mr. Perrine is "so excited to be coming back to Princeton and seeing all his old friends again." He is looking forward to ambulating up and down Nassau Street," Ms. James adds.

Mr. Perrine will have one of the two units with a specially designed wheel-in shower. His one-bedroom apartment, with space for the live-in companion he requires, has specially designed features such as wheel chair space under the kitchen counter, a wheel-chair accessible clothes pole in the closet, and the security peephole in the entrance door at wheel-chair height.

However, all units are equipped with grab bars in the bathrooms and emergen-

New Bill Provides State Tax Relief

Gov. Thomas Kean has signed into a law a bill that will permit property taxes to be deducted on the New Jersey income tax forms. The governor said the new legislation will mean a minimum return to taxpayers of $65 for homeowners and $35 for apartment tenants, who will be allowed to deduct 18 percent of their annual rent payments from their taxable income.

The governor called the bill "regressive" and unfair to lower-income-level taxpayers while benefitting those who make larger salaries and live in expensive communities. He said he signed it because the legislature had presented him with a choice between this tax bill or no tax cut at all.

To illustrate his point, Gov. Kean stated that the average return for taxpayers in Trenton would be $65, while

New Mall

West Windsor Village Centre, were unveiled last week.

The proposal will have to receive preliminary and final site plan approval from the West Windsor Planning Board, but if approved the developers hope to open the mall in the fall of 1986. The first hurdle was cleared earlier this summer when West Windsor approved a zoning change for the tract. Previously the land was zoned ROM (research/office/manufacturing use). West Windsor Township Committee changed the use to business/commercial.

The complex would front on Route 1 but use side entrances on Meadow Road, which West Windsor plans to extend. The developers argue that the type of tenants — specialty shops, restaurant and entertainment — will not contribute to rush hour traffic snarls on Route 1 because patrons would be arriving and departing at off-peak hours.

United Artists is expected to operate the nine-screen theater, and there would be a T.G.I. Friday restaurant. The specialty shops would have Cohoe's, a New York-based fashion clothing store, as anchor. The project has been planned for more than a year, according to Bernard Kurlemann of JMB Federated Realty.

Tax Cut

Princeton Borough taxpayers will receive an average of $122.

Average returns to taxpayers in other Mercer County communities are $122 for Princeton Township; $93 for West Windsor; $82 for Hopewell Borough, and nearly $82 for Pennington.

The administration had already allocated $140 million from the state's surplus to fund a tax rebate program; the governor said that he will take an additional $40 million to fund this plan.

Unlike the new law, which makes property tax deductions permanent, the governor had wanted a program that specified a tax cut for only one year. His plan would have called for a one-time return of approximately $90 to property owners.

"If I am right about the economy," said Gov. Kean, "future governors and legislators will not be able to fund this."

Circle. It does not address the proposed bypass around the Princeton Airport in Montgomery, which is described in DOT S-92 project update manuals.

The proposed improvements in that 14-mile segment consist primarily of widening the roadway to two lanes in each direction, separated by either a grass or concrete median. Several intersections will be improved with jug handles, and in some areas bypasses of the existing roadway are under consideration.

In Harlingen, an historic community, bypasses to the east and the west of the existing alignment are being considered. Another bypass is planned to smooth out the dangerous curve over the railroad tracks at Belle Mead. Still another bypass is planned to the east of the Hillsborough central business district that would be combined with the Belle Mead bypass. In all, some 35 different alignment combinations are being considered.

The DEIS deals in some detail with the environmental consequences of the widening and new alignments. The proposal would encroach on from nine to 11 acres of flood plain and one to three acres of wetland, depending on the alternative selected. Between eight and 36 families and 13 to 35 businesses would have to be relocated, and up to eight properties eligible for the National Register of Historic Places and a whole historic district would be affected.

Although some Montgomery citizens came out to Monday's meeting because they had specific concerns about the alignment choices through Harlingen, the official Montgomery Township position has all along had a different emphasis. In recapping the history of Montgomery's involvement since the early 1970's, Mr. Huttar pointed out that when I-95 was de-designated, with the promise that the monies released would be used for local roadway improvements, Montgomery asked that monies be spent on improvements to Route 206.

Specifically, Mr. Huttar said, the Belle Mead railroad overpass needed to be improved for safety considerations, as did the multiple intersections in the vicinity of Orchard Road. Additionally there was a recognition that two-lane Route 206, in the southern part of the township, was imposing limitations on shopping and employment and should be widened to four lanes.

What got Montgomery all steamed up, and led to the formation of CARS and the CARS alternative, was the DOT announcement in February, 1983, Mr. Huttar said, that the de-designated funds would go to S-92 linking 206 with the N.J. Turnpike at Hightstown, the Somerset Expressway and the dualization of Route 206.

Game Plan Change. All of a sudden it became clear to Montgomery residents that the whole game plan had changed. The Princeton Bypass, throughout the 1940's and 50's just that — a road around Princeton from 206 to Route 1 — had become a major link all the way to the Turnpike and beyond (Mr. Huttar calls it the Princeton spur of the New Jersey Turnpike); the Somerset Expressway was a segment of the old I-95 with a new name; and Route 206 through Montgomery was the critical link between those two major highways.

CARS sprang up as a grassroots citizens organization opposed to that link, but not opposed to the much needed improvements to Route 206 serving a different function. Believing that Somerville was the "logical node" toward which proposed S-92 traffic was heading if it were to turn north on Route 206, the CARS group devised an alternative alignment which would take that traffic to that node more directly.

Called the CARS alternative, it would deviate from the DOT's alignment for S-92 at Route 1 and cross relatively flat, uninhabited farmland in Franklin Township to reach the Somerset Expressway at a point in Hillsboro.

CARS proponents believe

N.J. ALLOCATES $417,000 For Harrison Street Bridge. Gov. Thomas Kean has signed into law two bills appropriating nearly $61 million for the repair and improvement of 200 bridges throughout the state. Of this amount, $417,000 has been allocated for engineering and right-of-way work on the Harrison Street bridge.

The bridge, recently closed by Mercer County Executive Bill Mathesius, is expected to take from two to six years to rebuild, according to the State Department of Transportation.

The $61 million is the final authorization from the New Jersey Bridge Rehabilitation and Improvement Bond Act of 1983. The governor said these funds, combined with federal money and other state funds, have totaled about $405 million for construction allocations for bridges between 1984 and 1986.

Bridge projects to be funded through this appropriation include, in Mercer County, $40,000 for a bridge over Harry's Brook in Princeton; $320,000 for Princeton Junction-Cranbury Road in West Windsor; $164,000 for Washington Crossing-Pennington Road in Hopewell Township; and $268,000 for Pennington-Centerville Road in Pennington and Hopewell Township.

In Middlesex County, funded projects will include $139,805 for engineering of a structure on Cranbury Neck Road over the Millstone River. Bridge work planned for Montgomery Township will include $390,000 for construction of Province Line Road Bridge, $60,000 for Harlingen Road Bridge, and $50,000 for engineering and construction of Grandview Road Bridge.

FALL GROUNDBREAKING For Yedlin Complex. A 5-2 approval from the Township Zoning Board has given Princeton developer Benedict Yedlin the go-ahead to begin construction this fall on a new office and apartment complex at the intersection of North Harrison Street and Valley Road.

The two votes against the 13,236-square-foot project came from Donald M. Wilson, who cited traffic problems and the relatively small size of the lot, and Carol Wojciechowicz. The North Harrison Street-Valley Road intersection, with an average of 12 automobile accidents a year, was called the worst in town by Police Chief Anthony M. Pinelli.

Mr. Yedlin's planner, Gerald Lenaz, said that, although the building will front North Harrison Street, its entrance will be 200 feet from the intersection. Chief Pinelli noted that the township plans to install a left-turn signal at the problem intersection.

The Township Master Plan has designated the site of the new complex for mixed business and residential use. In May, the Regional Planning

Needed: Adult Volunteers

Safe Rides in Princeton, Hopewell and Montgomery are urgently seeking adult volunteers to assist in the program. Primarily a student-run organization, Safe Rides provides young people with a free, confidential and safe ride home if it is needed

An emergency service for teens who find themselves in awkward or potentially dangerous situations, Safe Rides arose as a community response to needless death from alcohol-related automobile accidents. It began in Darien, Conn., in response to 11 teenage alcohol-related deaths.

Each Friday and Saturday night from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m., six students and an adult volunteer gather in the Safe Rides headquarters to receive calls. This is not a party service; names and addresses are double-checked against telephone directories. A student must be going home to qualify for a ride.

Interested volunteers should call Polly Miller (Princeton) at 921-8139; Nancy Young (Montgomery) at 466-1061; or Bill Corbo (Hopewell) at 466-3646.

Registration for adults in Princeton will be held at Trinity Church on Thursday, September 12, from 4 to 9 p.m.; and September 19 and 26 from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Student registration (for new and returning members) is limited to students attending local high schools and will be held at Trinity Church on Thursday, September 12, from 4 to 9 p.m.

Board rejected the proposed complex because it called only for one housing unit. The board recommended that Mr. Yedlin return to the zoning board with a revised plan.

The proposal approved by the zoning board calls for 4,000 square feet of residential space (four two-bedroom apartments) and 9,236 square feet of medical office space.

Completion of the project is expected by the summer or fall of 1986.

HOPEWELL THE SITE

For 1699 New Housing Units. K. Hovnanian, a major New Jersey developer responsible for Society Hill at Lawrenceville, wants to build another Society Hill in Hopewell.

Last week, the Red Bank-based firm informally presented plans for a 1,699-unit-development to Hopewell Township's Application Review Committee. The committee studies applications prior to review by the Planning Board.

The project would rise on two tracts between the Pennington-Lawrenceville Road and I-95. A 360-acre parcel would be the site of 664 garden apartments, 462 townhouses and 350 single-family houses, according to a Hovnanian engineer.

Planned for a 66-acre parcel are 110 single-family houses and 112 townhouses, he said. An internal roadway would connect the two developments.

The proposed complex would be set in Hopewell Township's "growth zone," a zone established by the township in response to the Mount Laurel II decision requiring municipalities to provide a realistic opportunity for the construction of low- and moderate-income housing.

Township Planning Board Member William Kampfer said that the density of the project is allowable under present zoning codes.

Officials of adjoining Lawrence Township expressed concern about increased traffic, lack of water supply, and over-capacity of the sewer service. Lawrence Mayor Gretel Gatterdam said the Township Council probably will send a representative to Hopewell Township planning board meetings at the time of the development's formal application.

While by far the largest, the Hovnanian project is not the only housing complex presently being proposed for Hopewell.

Lovero and Co. of West Trenton recently presented preliminary plans to the township planning board for 350 single family houses, townhouses and apartments on 240 acres adjacent to the proposed Hovnanian development.

TWO HOMES ENTERED

On Cuyler Road. Two homes on Cuyler Road were broken into this month, both possibly on the same night.

Two bedrooms and a living room of one home were ransacked after an intruder pried rear bedroom windows and pushed in screens to enter sometime during a two-week period.

Police report a television set is missing and is assumed to have been stolen. Lt. Frank Boccanfuso is investigating, pending the return of the owners. The break-in was reported on Thursday.

Between 8 and 9 in the evening, someone entered another Cuyler home by way of an unlocked front door.

Police report several bedroom drawers were seached but no ransacking. It is believed that the suspects fled out a rear door when the owner drove home. Nothing is missing.

A home on Leabrook Lane was entered last week while the owners were away.

A housesitter called police after she noticed a screen had been removed from a second floor window. Ptl. Stephan Hogancamp, who responded, found checks thrown about and evidence of some ransacking. Jewelry, however, had not been disturbed.

Police report they will not know what was taken — if anything — until the owners return.

A Leigh Avenue resident informed Township police last week that a portable AM-FM radio-cassette valued at $220 has been stolen from his bedroom.

Someone, police said, had removed a fan to enter a window of his apartment between 8 in the evening and 4:50 the following morning.

TWOSOME IS ASSAULTED

On Springdale Green. Two members of the Springdale Golf Club were assaulted this month on the 13th green by two players more interested in hijinks than links.

The two members, police report, had just finished the 12th hole around 7 in the evening and as they walked to the 13th tee they observed two players without shirts who appeared to be more interested in fooling around than in playing golf. The two suspect players had not been playing ahead of the club members and had apparently snuck on the course, Capt. Jack Petrone, a golf player himself, reported.

After waiting some minutes, the club members teed off and as they reached the green, the two suspects, with one golf bag between them, were still playing. When they questioned whether they were authorized to play on the course, the two responded with obscenities.

Capt. Petrone reported that one of the suspects then struck both member golfers, punching one in the stomach and knocked the other to the ground. They then fled the scene.

No charges have been made because police have not been able to identify the suspects.

Both are white males. One is described as muscular, 20-23, 5-10, 190-200 pounds with short blonde hair, wearing colorful shorts. The second has a medium build with short brown hair wearing multi-colored shorts.

Capt. Petrone reported that the two victims, one a resident of Princeton, the other from Lawrenceville, were about the same age as the two suspects. Det. David Wilbur is continuing the investigation of the August 10 incident.

DROP THAT WALLET!

Juvenile Charged With Theft. A 15-year-old Borough juvenile has been charged with the attempted theft of a wallet following his arrest last week.

According to Capt. John J. Bellow, the youth entered the YMCA building on Paul Robeson Place Friday afternoon and stole an employee's wallet from her office. The victim, a Monmouth Junction resident, pursued the youth out the building and across the parking lot. "Drop the wallet or I'll call the police," she shouted.

The youth dropped the wallet, which was recovered intact by the victim. She gave police a description of the suspect, which fit that of a youth police had observed in the area earlier in the day, Capt. Bellow said. The Juvenile Officer went to the suspect's house and arrested him.

He was later released to his parents. Police also uncovered an AM-FM cassette recorder in the youth's home which had allegedly been stolen.

FORMER TELLER SOUGHT

In Connection With $1,000 Theft. A former teller at the Security Savings and Loan, 132 Nassau Street, is being sought by Borough police in connection with the theft August 9 of $1,000.

The teller, identified as Curt Broadway, 20, of Princeton Pike, Lawrence Township, has since resigned. Police who attempted unsuccessfully to arrest Mr. Broadway at his home on Tuesday, report that the suspect has paid the money back.

According to Capt. John J. Bellow, Borough police were first notified of the incident late Friday night by a security officer of the loan institution. Police report the Savings and Loan had initially approached the FBI to conduct an investigation but the government agency declined because of the small amount of money involved.

According to Capt. Bellow, Broadway assisted the head teller in passing out cash drawers to the other tellers on the morning of the 9th. At 2:30 in the afternoon, he told the head teller that he needed an additional $3,000. Apparently, either in the morning or afternoon he received an extra $1,000 by mistake.

At the close of the day when the head teller had to account for all the cash, Capt. Bellow said Broadway asked her if everything proved out. When she asked "Why?", Broadway is alleged to have replied that he had $1,000 in $10 bills.

Just Kidding. When pressed by the head teller to explain, Broadway replied that he was just kidding. Suspicious, the head teller checked again and found she was $1,000 short.

When she asked Broadway about the shortfall, he told her he would bring the money back tomorrow, but when he was told he would have to return it that day, he said that he didn't know anything about any missing money.

The head teller then reported the incident to her manager. After an audit, the two and Broadway appeared before the company vice-president to report what had happened. At this confrontation, Broadway admitted taking the money, Capt. Bellow reported, but claimed he had only $600 left. He promised to return the remaining $400 the next day — which he did to another teller.

Ten days later, Broadway requested that he be allowed to resign from the company. The request was granted but officers in the company, police said, decided to press charges anyway.

$229 IS STOLEN From Cash Box. The theft of $229 from a metal cash box kept in a file cabinet at Princeton-Nassau Pediatrics, 11 North Harrison Street, was discovered Monday morning.

Police report keys to the cash box and cabinet were kept in a desk drawer five feet away. The keys were still in the drawer and there were no signs of any forced entry, suggesting the thief had used them to open the cabinet and cash box. Ptl. Ronald Wohlschlegel investigated.

While a Princeton resident was standing in line at the United Jersey Bank on Nassau Street Friday morning, he suddenly realized he had left his wallet on a counter while filling out his deposit slip.

Too late. His black leather wallet containing $20 was missing. There were a number of people in the bank at the time, police report.

In another wallet theft last week, a student employee in Guyot Hall on the Princeton University campus told police that her wallet had been stolen from the top of her desk. She lost $15, stamps and credit cards. The office was unlocked, police said.

Another example of how quickly a theft can occur took place at the J.B. Winberie Restaurant on Palmer Square last week.

Police report a Trenton resident had gone to a rest room to wash her hands, leaving behind four rings. She returned five minutes later but the rings were gone. Taken were a yellow gold ring with a diamond chip and four opals, two yellow gold abstract rings valued at $100 each and a gold intital ring (J) worth $250.

A Witherspoon Street resident listed the theft last week of a radio-television combination set from her apartment, which was entered, police said, between 8:30 Thursday evening and 12:50 Friday morning by an intruder who pried a window screen from its frame.

Between 1:30 and 2:30 Saturday morning, someone threw a rock through a driver's side window of a 1985 Camaro while it was parked in the Princeton Bank and Trust lot off Chambers Street. The victim, a Lawrenceville resident, reported a $240 radar detector missing.

In one of two bicycle thefts on the university campus last week, a blue and silver Raleigh Record 10-speed valued at $200 was taken from in front of Green Hall. Police report the student's bike had been secured to a railing with a cable lock.

Another student's Raleigh bike, a 10-speed Grand Prix valued at $90, was taken Thursday from a Firestone Library rack. It was unlocked.

$1,500 Necklace Missing. A graduated pearl necklace has been reported missing by a Township resident.

Valued at $1,500 the necklace was last seen Sept. 1, 1984, the owner said, when it had been hidden in a bathroom with other jewelry. There were no signs of forced entry and the other jewelry was not touched.

At the time, the owner told police he was moving from the Lawrence Apartments, Princeton University housing off lower Alexander Street on West Drive, to a home on Clearview Avenue.

In two more late theft reports, a Dogwood Hill resident listed the theft of a diving watch with a stainless steel band valued at $700 from a table next to a Community Park tennis court (he left it July 13) and a Cranbury resident joined the list of theft victim when a room was looted earlier at the Stuart Country Day School during a summer session there. He lost a $250 camera.

DRIVER IS CHARGED

After Collision With Cyclist. A Trenton resident, Christopher J. Wilbert, 22, has been charged with failing to yield the right of way at an intersection after his car struck a cyclist last week.

Mr. Wilbert was turning left from Nassau onto Murray Place when the front end of his car struck the left side of a bicycle operated by Michael Semenovsky, 22, 2613 The Graduate College. In his report, Ptl. Anthony Federico noted that Mr. Wilbert's view had been obstructed by road construction barricades.

The victim was taken by patrol car to Princeton Medical Center where he was treated for contusions, bruises and abrasions of the legs and arms. His bicycle was demolished.

BICYCLIST IS STRUCK

At Bunn Drive Intersection. An 18-year-old cyclist, Lisa J. Schkolnick of 87 Randall Road, collided with a car last week at the intersection of Bunn Drive and Harrison Street N. She refused treatment for contusions and bruises of her legs.

The driver, Jackson P. Diehl, 71, of Cherry Hill, reported that he had stopped and had proceeded into the intersection when it was clear. Miss Schkolnick entered from the right and was struck.

The accident was not investigated by the police and there were no charges.

CAR ROOF DAMAGED

By Fire. The vinyl roof and rear seat area of a 1973 Cadillac were heavily damaged last week by fire which erupted while it was parked in a tennis area at Community Park. Police identified the owner as Melvin J. Best of Trenton, a former Princeton resident.

A John Street resident called police at 1:30 in the morning last Wednesday to report flames coming from the left side rear window. The fire was extinguished by the police but one fire truck was called to hose down the interior of the car.

Police report a lot of smoke and considerable damage to the rear of the car as a result of the fire. There was no estimate of the dollar damage nor any explanation for the cause of the fire.

MAILBOX, POST DAMAGED

By Vandals. A mailbox and a lamp post at the end of the drive of a Littlebrook Road N. home were the target last week of vandals who caused $70 in damage.

Police report two panes of glass in the lamp were broken and the mailbox kicked in and crushed. No one was seen in the area at the time of the incident which took place between 11 Thursday evening and 8:30 the next morning.

OPENING DAY IS SEPT. 5

For Newgrange School. The Newgrange School, under the direction of Princeton residents Frances Benson and Lois Young, will begin its ninth year of operation on September 5. The school provides an individualized program for students with reading and learning difficulties.

This year, all students will use the word processor as part of the school's writing program. This program will be under the direction of Gene Biringer, former Princeton Regional Schools principal. Dr. Joan Merrick Neider, author of a computer text soon to be published by Ginn & Co., will continue to direct the computer program in LOGO and BASIC in which all students participate.

Newgrange, located on Roberts Road in Kendall Park, has recently been awarded a $1000 scholarship to participate in the "Instructional Theory Into Practice" program sponsored by the Academy for the Advancement of Teaching and Management.

REGISTRATION SET

For YWCA Courses. Registration for Princeton YWCA Fall classes, programs, and activities will take place on Saturday, September 7, 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., and on Monday, September 9, 9 a.m.-7 p.m.

The Adult Department will present an opportunity to discuss and learn about the Mature Woman Internship at the YWCA; a session on dealing with anxiety and phobias; a family evening of international music; food and new friends; and a series on personal health management, covering the pros and cons of the annual physical, addiction in women, and women's health issues.

For the writer, "Breaking Into Print" will feature a New York literary agent and editors of two journals (Walter Cummins of the Literary Review and John C. Kleis of Four Quarters) discussing how editors judge manuscripts and what's in demand.

Brown bag supper offerings for working women will include a financial planning series structured to age, income, and investment interests, and an informal group for working women new or fairly new in the Princeton area will discuss networking, office politics, conflicts between career and personal needs and being single in a couple oriented society.

A variety of arts and crafts, cooking, and parent and child classes will be presented for pre-school children including "Mother and Infant" for parents and children under 8 months; "Baby and Me" for parents and children 8-18 months, and "Storytime Science," an exploration of science through mini-experiments and story for the 3-5 year old and parent.

The pre-music program, "Music through Movement," will encourage 3 and 4 year olds to develop musical interests through songs, rhythm and movement, and the popular "Toddler Fun Club" will also return in the fall. Grade school children can enroll in pottery, recorder, needlework, algebra, math enrichment, juggling, conversational Spanish and special holiday workshops.

The show is titled "Word and Sand" and will include sandcasts by Ilse Johnson. The Artists Preview will be held Sunday, September 1, from 2 to 5.

SUPPORT GROUPS SET

By Therapy Practice. The Gabrielsen Group, a psychotherapy practice which specializes in alcohol and substance abuse problems, announces the start of two new groups.

The continuous Self Esteem series will begin its next cycle on Wednesday, September 4, from 11:30 to 1. This group, which focuses on self acceptance, explores new learning tools for making decisions and taking action. This series is the 15th since its inception in 1983.

Beginning Sobriety, a newly developed group, meets on Fridays from 6:30 to 8 p.m. This program will be an ongoing, once-a-week support group experience primarily for people who have made the choice not to use mood changing chemicals. New members are welcome at any time. The only requirement is a prior meeting with the group leader.

Eligible are those just out of a detoxification clinic; those just out of a 28-day rehabilitation program; those who have been in the AA or NA program for two weeks; or those who have been alcohol and/or drug free on their own for 90 days. The group encourages a three month's attendance by each member.

Some educational information will be a part of the format for both groups.

For information call the Gabrielsen Group at 737-8070.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Focus of Women's Group. Women who have outgrown their present jobs and believe their talents are under-utilized are invited to join a small career development group which will begin meeting in September in the Princeton area.

The group will focus on learning the specific skills and behaviors that are most frequently demonstrated by people who achieve their goals, and get what they want out of their careers.

The group will be limited to eight women. It will meet on Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9 for 16 weeks.

The cost is $25 per session, payable monthly. Enrollment constitutes a commitment to be a group member for the entire 16-week period.

The group leader is Linda Albert, head of her own management consulting business here. Ms. Albert specializes in management development, training, strategic planning, and career development programs for corporations such as Dun &

AROUND THE WORLD

On Next to Nothing. The world-wide travels and photographs of a slight, bespectacled schoolteacher from Maplewood significantly shaped America's view of the outside world at the turn of the century. A major exhibition of this man's work and travels, "America Discovers the World: James Ricalton's Travels on Next to Nothing" will open at the New Jersey State Museum on September 14 with a 30-minute 3-D sound-slide travelogue at 5 and a reception from 6 to 8.

James Ricalton circled the globe five times between 1879 and 1914. Prior to working as a professional photographer for Underwood and Underwood, the country's leading publisher of 3-D pictures, he was a teacher and school principal, and sandwiched his annual treks into summer recesses. Ricalton traveled more than 500,000 miles, visited almost every country in the world and shot more than 100,000 photographs and 30 miles of motion picture film.

The exhibition explores Grand Tour images savored by "innocents abroad" in contrast to images recorded by peripatetic traveler Ricalton. The exhibit also includes artifacts that Ricalton brought back from his endless travels and displayed in his own museum.

Extended one-hour performances of the "3-D Travels on Next to Nothing" with live actors portraying Madam Chairman, who introduces the program, and James Ricalton, who narrates the tour, will be given on the following weekends in the auditorium: September 15, October 26 and 27, and November 3 and 24. In addition, there will be a symposium, "Photographs: Myth or Reality," on October 26 at 3. Both programs are free.

The exhibition will continue through January 12, 1986. For additional information, call 292-6308.

PLANETARIUM SHOWS

Announced by Museum. Weekend plantetarium shows at the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton will feature "Celestial Pursuit" and "Fall Sky Panorama" beginning Saturday, September 7, and continuing through Sunday, October 27. Admission is free, and those attending must be over seven years old.

"Celestial Pursuit" will be shown at 2 and 4 p.m. The program features the trivia game's format as a springboard for discussing several short topics including planetary rings, the space telescope, and Halley's Comet.

"Fall Sky Panorama" will be shown at 3 p.m. and will show viewers what they can see with the unaided eye and the telescope in the autumn skies.

ANNUAL MEETING SET

Of Service Agencies. The 39th Annual Meeting of the Princeton Area Council of Community Services will be held Wednesday, September 18, at 11:45 at the Plainsboro Municipal Center Town Hall, 641 Plainsboro Road, Plainsboro.

The Annual Meeting is a once-a-year gathering of all human service agency representatives and members of the public who are interested in community services. The Council has many active committees working in specialized areas during the year, and the Annual Meeting provides an opportunity to bring together the entire network of people involved in human services.

The meeting will feature the awarding of the annual Citation for Distinguished Volunteer Leadership, a presentation of highlights of the Council's 1984-85 program year, and a display of information and literature from the Council's 80 non-profit and publicly supported member organizations. At a brief business meeting the annual election of directors and officers will be held.

Nominations from the floor may be made provided they have been submitted in writing by September 6 to the Secretary, Board of Directors, Box 201, Princeton 08542-0201.

The public is encouraged to attend the meeting to learn about how to become involved in the myriad of community service opportunities in the Greater Princeton Area. Five dollars covers the cost of the luncheon which is catered by and paid in part by "Main Street," Kingston.

The Princeton Area Council of Community Services is a voluntary non-profit organization of public and private non-profit health, welfare, recreation and education agencies and representatives of the general public concerned with improving the quality of life in the area covered by the United Way-Princeton Area Communities. The Council is funded by the United Way-Princeton Area Communities and acts as its planning associate.

During the past year several of the Council's activities have included: a conference for area employers on the subject of corporate-supported child care; a conference for families who care for home-bound impaired relatives, a public education program for working parents who are seeking child care; publication of the "Directory of Community Services,"

Also, distribution of "Volunteer Opportunities Directory" and "Child Care Directory," implementation of a Community Needs Assessment research project; and ongoing meetings of the Health, Aging, Child Care, and Youth Concerns coordinating committees. The Council of Community Services also operates the "First Call for Help" information and referral service.

For further information about the Council or to make reservations for the Annual Meeting, call 924-5865 or 799-6033. The Council serves people who live or work in Cranbury, East Windsor, Griggstown, Hightstown, Kingston, Montgomery, Plainsboro, Princeton Borough and Township, Rocky Hill, West Windsor, and adjacent parts of Hopewell, Lawrence, and lower South Brunswick Townships.

VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT

By State Museum. An open house for potential volunteers will be held Wednesday, September 18, from 10 a.m. to noon in the Friends Gallery on the second floor of the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton.

Thirty jobs are available to volunteers, ranging from working with collections, researching documents, planning trips, giving tours, and assisting in the gift shop. No experience is necessary.

Staff members from the museum's archaelogy-ethnology, cultural history, education, fine arts, public relations, and science departments will be on hand to describe the opportunities available in their areas. Participants will be able to talk with them and discuss their own particular interests.

For reservations or to obtain additional information, call 292-6308. A volunteer job description handbook is also available.

Elm Court

cy pull-cords in bathroom and bedroom that are connected to the superintendent's quarters. There are 66 one bedroom units in Elm Court's two story quadrangle, and 22 "efficiencies," containing an L-shaped living and sleeping area along with kitchen, bath and storage space.

Residents may plug in their own air conditioning units in the space provided and are billed for electricity but not for heat or water. Each bathroom has been equipped with a water-saving toilet which is expected to save on water and sewer charges, according to Ms. James.

There is a big laundry area, with washer and dryer, on each floor. All rooms are painted in a light-enhancing pinky-beige, but each corridor has its own distinctive color: blue, dark red and dark brown. Across the front of the quadrangle are ranged a big all-purpose living/dining/meeting room, flanked by a fine big kitchen on one side and an arts-and-crafts room on the other.

The superintendent's quarters and offices for the on-site manager are also in the front, along with a big hallway and space-enhancing balcony, and an elevator. The doorways and the elevator are all wheel-chair wide.

HOUSE MOTHER: That, essentially, is what the job of on-site manager to a residential community like Elm Court entails. Pat Cox waited seven years for the right project to come along and believes she may have found her calling.

Pat Cox is the on-site manager. A quiet-spoken, quiet-mannered woman of 41, Mrs. Cox has a master's degree in educational psychology. Her husband is an oceanographer with the Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Laboratory in Forrestal, and she worked in the psychological research department for 15 years during which she obtained that master's at Rutgers. Since 1982, however, she has been "waiting for the right thing to come along."

She says her mother used to say she related better to older people than she did to her peers. Certainly watching her parents and her husband's parents struggle with the various problems associated with growing older has kindled a keen awareness of the needs of the elderly. She attended many of the meetings at Borough Hall about this proposed housing for the elderly, long before it became a reality and she became the on site manager.

On the job since April, Mrs. Cox has been systematically interviewing the pool of applicants created in the lottery established last spring under federally mandated guidelines. From that original pool of 224 who filled out an application form and received a number, Elm Court has filled slightly more than 60 of its 88 spaces. And there are perhaps another 25 interviews yet to be held.

Some applicants change their minds, she explains. Some apply in order to get on the waiting list for a later date. Some have more than the maximum income limit, which is $17,450 for a single person and $19,950 for a couple. Some do not comply to tenancy requirements of being able to live independently, for instance, or general ability to fit in with the group situation.

Of the 224 applicants in the May lottery, there were 117 with a "Princeton priority," Mrs. Cox notes.

Flipping through her files, Mrs. Cox gives a few instances of the elderly or handicapped who will particularly benefit by this housing project. There is a 92-year-old woman, for instance, who has been living with her daughter for the last 10 years, and who will be "striking out on her own" and is "thrilled" about the prospect. Her daughter is making kitchen curtains and is going to throw her mother a kitchen shower.

Then there is another woman in her 80's (most of the applicants are women, Mrs. Cox says, and many asked whether there would be "millionaire" single men for them to meet at Elm Court), who had been living with a granddaughter on Route 1. Displaced by the widening of the U.S. highway, she has been passed from relative to relative and feels, Mrs. Cox says, "like a gypsy. She is so pleased to be having a place to call her own."

At the other end of the age scale is the woman who came in for her interview the day before her 20th birthday. Confined to a wheel chair by the spina bifida and club feet with which she was born, this woman has been living in foster homes all her brief life. For the first time she will be living on her own and supporting herself partially by working in a clerical capacity for a state-run program at the Johnson Park School.

Mrs. Cox describes her as "a wonderfully bubbly individual, with a bright smile and chubby cheeks." She was highly recommended for the project and will be, Mrs. Cox thinks, "such an asset to this building."

Still another prospective tenant is a 30-year old stroke victim, who also has lupus, but who works hard, Mrs. Cox says, "keeping herself together" and attending classes in cooking and budgeting. And there is the classic example of a husband and wife, both black, both born, raised and married in Princeton but forced by economics and the lack of suitable housing here to live in Trenton. They are looking forward to coming back, Mrs. Cox says.

Although there is not a large percentage of blacks or minorities coming to Elm Court, there are a number of Thanks from Glen Acres.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Because of Town Topics has been so helpful in bringing the community's attention to the plight of Glen Acres vs. Midlantic Banks Incorporated, we wanted to share our good news with you.

On August 1, the West Windsor Zoning Board voting unanimously to reject the Bank's application for a variance that would have allowed them to impose a 5000 square foot facility — replete with drive through lanes and an all-night teller — on our residential neighborhood. Members of the Zoning Board indicated that they were impressed by our organized resistance to the Bank's application and our dedication to our cause, and that the seriousness of our effort affected they vote.

We, in turn, are pleased to be citizens of a community whose zoning board cares about the quality of residential life in the rapidly expanding Route One corridor, and whose action offers an encouraging example to other communities of how the commercial boom in Central New Jersey can be reasonably and responsibly directed.

We wish to thank TOWN TOPICS for helping us to focus public attention on our case.

THE NEIGHBORS
OF GLEN ACRES

Tickets Should Be Legible.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On Monday, July 29, I watched a policman ticket my car on Nassau Street for overtime parking. Subsequently, I paid the $6 fee at the precinct rather than appearing for court session.

However, I object strenuously to the fact that the officer's signature was illegible. This is an affront to the citizens' intelligence, and I resent such action.

I reported the incident to Sgt. Huizing at the preeinct, and he assured me that action would be taken.

To be sure, this is a small item, but I think it is worthy of some consideration.

nationalities represented. "I think we're going to have a really nice mixture here, young in age and young in mind and spirit," Mrs. Cox says. "These 80- and 90-year-olds have taught me a lot in a short time.

There are a couple of painters, who want to give painting classes, and we hope to have a little gift shop of the arts and crafts. And if someone would donate a piano, there are a couple of really good pianists coming — concert-trained — who could give concerts," she adds.

In time Elm Court will implement a "congregate program," providing a hot meal at noon time and help with daily living. The program will be subsidized for those who need it and available at a fee for those who would like it but are not in need. An example would be a person returning from the hospital after surgery and needing a little help during the recovery period.

The congregate program will be paid for initially out of private funds generated by Princeton Community Housing, but in succeeding years, PCH hopes to obtain state funding. It is seen as another way of "keeping people as independent as long as possible," according to Ms. James.

Shortly, Ms. James and Mrs. Cox will be interviewing candidates for a social worker position at Elm Court. They will be looking for someone who knows Princeton and the resources here, and who will be able to connect the tenants with services and programs they may need.

Because Elm Court is off Elm Road, at some remove from the center of town, and not next to the Public Library, as it was once planned, Mrs. Cox sees part of her role as that of bringing the community into the project and also in getting the residents out and into town. There will be van transportation, with handicap access on certain days of the week.

As she contemplates her new job, and the new dimensions it will take on as the residents move in, Mrs. Cox is all enthusiasm. "There are enormous possibilities," she states. "It just depends on what people will want and what they will offer of themselves."

For now, however, she is worried mainly about getting those who have been promised units moved in. The building was finished August 9, but the Borough Building Inspector has been delayed by illness and lack of assistants in getting around to perform the necessary inspections.

A lot of people have had to cancel or postpone their original moving dates, and the uncertainty as to when the building will have a certificate of occupancy has prompted classic stress symptoms such as elevated blood pressure in some of the waiting elderly.

For Ms. James there is irony in the fact that on August 9, the very date that the building was complete, TOWN TOPICS carried the story of the Borough's plans for a parking garage on the site next to the Public Library where this housing was originally intended.

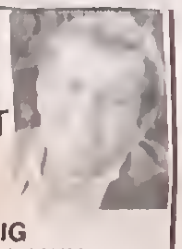
LET'S TALK ABOUT



YOUR BIG BROWN LAWN —
with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

If you plan on doing any work on your lawn, you had better start soon!! Late August and early September are the best times to seed and renovate poor lawn areas. One of the major reasons for failure in turf growth is the selection of improper varieties to begin with. When selecting lawn grasses, avoid bargain mixtures, and always select certified seed when available.

Kentucky bluegrasses and fine fescues are the primary lawn grasses in New Jersey. Bluegrasses thrive in conditions of cool temperatures, good drainage and sufficient moisture, so growth slows and turf turns brown in hot, dry weather. Fine fescues on the other hand, can tolerate dry, infertile soil and sun or partial shade. Perennial Ryegrasses grow quickly and tolerate a wide range of growing conditions.

Important things to remember are removing thatch to allow better penetration of water, application of lime to improve soil structure, cutting at a mower height of approximately two inches to conserve moisture, use of a good, all purpose insecticide to control as wide a range of lawn insects as possible and finally careful and timely use of a good fertilizer.

REMEMBER — with all the dry, hot weather we have had, that your trees and shrubs will also need deep root fertilization. Give WOODWINDS (924-3500) a call with all your tree care concerns!!!

BUSINESS

OFFICIAL OPENING

For New Bank Branch. The new Princeton office of the Howard Savings Bank on Route 206 and Cherry Hill Road will host opening ceremonies on Saturday, September 7, at 10 a.m. This will be followed by a month-long series of sweepstakes and premium programs.

The new facility, which opened for business August 19, replaces the bank's Montgomery Township location. It was constructed to offer customers a wider range of services, such as drive-up windows, a full-service lobby, and a Money Access Center (MAC) automated teller machine.

The Princeton office also offers savings, checking, and money market accounts, retirement plans, Howard Equity Reserve Option (HERO) loans, home improvement and automobile loans, mortgage loans through its subsidiary, Mortgage Services of America (MSA), trust services, discount brokerage services and insurance through the Howard Insurance Group.

FINANCIAL SERVICES CO.

To Move to Forrestal. International MarketNet (IMNET), a joint venture partnership formed by Merrill Lynch and I.B.M., has signed a long-term lease for the entire 72,000 square feet of Prudential at Princeton's 400 College Road East. IMNET, with headquarters in New York, will locate its principal operations facility — including computer center, distribution, administration and service functions — in the two-story structure at Prudential Development Company's office campus in the Forrestal Center.

IMNET provides information and communication systems to support the financial community. The company states it will soon be in operation providing satellite and television broadcast of stock quotations and financial news; interactive access to clients' existing computers; and means to integrate, analyze and display the information on an IBM Personal Computer.

JAPANESE FIRM TAPPED

To Design Office Complex. Kajima International has been selected to design and build the first two buildings at the 518 Business Park, a 500,000 square foot research-office community to be constructed on Route 518 in Montgomery Township.

Sandra Persichetti and Anne Sorensen are managing general partners of 518 Princeton Associates, the developer. They have selected Roger Wells, Inc., of Haddonfield, planners and landscape architects, to design the master site plan for the 100-acre parcel.

Construction of the first two 50,000 square foot buildings will begin in spring 1986. The first building is expected to be ready for occupancy the following spring.

Kajima International is a subsidiary of Kajima Corporation, one of the world's largest architectural, engineering and general contracting firms, with operations spanning 40 countries and annual revenues of $3.8 billion.

The firm established its U.S. operations in 1964, and has since completed more than 500 projects in 19 states. In addition to its corporate headquarters in Ft. Lee, N.J., Kajima maintains offices in Los Angeles, Atlanta and Dallas.

FITNESS FORCE TO OPEN

At Shopping Center. The Fitness Force, a retail store featuring fitness and exercise equipment, will open in September in the Princeton Shopping Center.

The new store will occupy 2,400 square feet in the shopping center, which is currently under renovation.

STOCK SPLIT ANNOUNCED

By United Jersey. The Board of Directors of United Jersey Banks has announced a 3-for-2 stock split and an increase of 11.5 percent in the dividend rate on the resulting shares. This marks the fourth consecutive year in which United Jersey has increased its dividend by more than ten percent.

"United Jersey's stock has seen a gratifying increase in price in the past year, and the split will place our stock in a more affordable price range for investors," said the corporation's chairman and president, T. Joseph Semrod. "We expect that this will improve the common stock's marketability and liquidity, and allow us to attract new investors."

The corporation, which last month reported record earnings, announced that the dividend increase will be payable after the stock split. The new quarterly rate, adjusted for the split, will be 29 cents per share, compared with the prior adjusted rate of 26 cents — an 11.5 percent increase. The adjusted cash dividend on the resulting shares will be $1.16 on a annualized basis, compared to the previous adjusted rate of $1.04.

CHAMBER DAY

Show and Card Exchange. The Princeton Chamber of Commerce Business Card Exchange and and Reception is set for September 19 from 5 to 7 at Scanticon-Princeton. A Business Show, already a sell-out, is set for 11 to 7. New chamber members are invited to stop by between 2:30 and 3:30 to get acquainted with the chamber.

There'll be door prizes, exhibits, free desserts and more. Approximately 50 chamber members will host the reception and be on hand to meet area busines representatives and members of the general public.

A general membership luncheon will be held between 11:30 and 1:30.

BRANCH OFFICE CLOSED

By Nassau Interiors. Nassau Interiors has closed its branch at Montgomery Shopping Center.

Times has proved that it is more economically feasible to consolidate the two operations. Bedding and hide-a-beds will now be sold at the 162 Nassau Street store in the second floor display area.

John K. Ziegler, Jr.

Business in Princeton

PERSONNEL NOTES

Short and Ford Architects has appointed James A. Gatsch, AIA, Philip L. Kianka, AIA, and John K. Ziegler Jr., AIA as associates.

Mr. Gatsch, a Ewing Township resident, has been in the architectural profession more than 11 years. He was recently the project manager for an addition to the American List Counsel headquarters in Bordentown. He is currently the project coordinator for the restoration and renovation of the New Jersey State House in Trenton (a joint venture with Johnson & Jones Architects). Mr. Gatsch is a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

Mr. Kianka joined the firm in 1981 and has been responsible for housing at the Institute for Advanced Study, a private estate in Hopewell Township, and for the restoration of the historic train station in Elizabeth. He received a bachelor and master of architecture from Clemson University. A Hopewell Township native, he currently resides in Princeton Township.

Mr. Ziegler, who lives in Princeton, has been with the firm since 1977 and is a graduate of Clemson University. He has worked on numerous Princeton area residences, was responsible for conversion of the Valley Road school into municipal offices for Princeton Township. He is the project architect for the Church of the Messiah in Chester, St. John's Episcopal Church in Somerville, and Nassau Presbyterian Church.

Allen Weiss, P.E., has been promoted to Associate at CUH2A. Mr. Weiss is Director of CUH2A's electrical engineering department, and is responsible for the design of all electrical systems, including power distribution, communications, emergency power, cogeneration, fire alarms, and lighting.

Mr. Weiss is currently working on CUH2A's projects for the CBS computer center in Secaucus; the supercomputer in Princeton; the expansion of Warner Lambert's world headquarters in Morris Plains; laboratories for Ortho Pharmaceuticals and Merck, Sharp and Dohme; and the new BMW North American headquarters in Woodcliff Lakes.

In addition, Mr. Weiss has won awards for lighting designs for the Wills Eye Hospital in Philadelphia; the Independence Mall Subway Station in Philadelphia; the Smith Kline Beckman Laboratory in Lower Merion, Pa.; and the Charleston, W. Va. Interstate Highway System.

Mr. Weiss is a resident of Southampton, Pa.

Robert C. Johnston of Titusville, has been appointed vice president and general counsel for Squibb Medical Products Group.

In his new position, Mr. Johnston will be responsible for handling all legal matters other than litigation in the operations of ConvaTec and Edward Weck & Company, Inc., two companies in the Squibb Medical Products Group. ConvaTec is involved in the development and manufacture of ostomy, wound management and incontinence products. Edward Weck & Company produces precision surgical instruments and related items for use in general, surgical, neurological, optical and ophthalmic specialities.

Mr. Johnston, a member of the New York and New Jersey Bar, joined E.R. Squibb & Sons, Inc. in 1968 as assistant general counsel. He was promoted to associate general counsel and most recently served as general corporate counsel for Squibb Corporation.

Before coming to Squibb, the Princeton University and Harvard Law School graduate was a partner in the New York firm of Johnston and Ward. He is chairman of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association and a director of the Washington Crossing Association of New Jersey.

Kenneth J. Horvath CPA has been promoted to manager in Amper, Politziner & Mattia, a regional accounting firm with offices in Princeton, Flemington and Woodbridge.

Mr. Horvath, a resident of Bridgewter, received his bachelor's degree in accounting from Babson College in Wellesley, Mass., in 1971. He has more than 13 years experience in the fields of public and private accounting. He is a member of The American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants and has been appointed a member of the New Jersey Society of CPA's committee on auditing and accounting standards.

Mr. Horvath is also president of the board of trustees of Birth Alternatives, which runs Familyborn birth center in Princeton.

Route 206

this alternative would benefit Hillsborough's expressed desires for industrial rateables, provide access through residential development that is bound to occur in Franklin (where 11 Mt. Laurel suits are pending) and most importantly return Route 206 to the status of local road serving Montgomery residential and shopping needs. It could take on the Route 206 designation, and the present Route 206, with the improvements for safety and improved traffic flow that have been acknowledged to be needed, could really be Main Street, Montgomery, CARS proponents suggest.

The DOT, however, has since March, 1984, eliminated the CARS alternative from its thinking. In the recently released DEIS, the DOT says that the CARS alternative is not "cost beneficial," since the high cost to build a new 10½ miles of highway will "neither divert significant volumes from Route 206 or eliminate the need for major improvements to the existing route in the future, nor will it eliminate the need for the Route 92 Princeton Bypass."

Despite this rebuff, Montgomery persists. Township officials have corresponded and met with DOT Commissioner Bodman; they have sought an audience with Governor Kean, to no avail. They believe they have an ace-in-the-hole in the veto power communities who were to be directly affected by I-95 were granted in the designation process.

But they are biding their time to use it until the most advantageous moment.

—Barbara L. Johnson

OBITUARIES

Dr. Jeannette Munro, Princeton's first pediatrician and first woman doctor, died on August 12 in Nyack, N.Y., after a long illness.

Dr. Munro was born in Philadelphia on Valentine's Day, 1894. Her father was a professor of medieval history who came to Princeton after teaching at the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Wisconsin at Madison. She obtained a bachelor's degree and, after a perind of social work in New York, her M.D. in 1927 at the University of Wisconsin.

After further training in Boston and Worcester, Mass., Dr. Munro came to New York to start practicing medicine in the depth of the Depression. When her father died in 1934, she moved to Princeton to live with her mother and set herself up as a pediatrician. Her account of her adventures and activities as a pioneering pediatrician in Princeton will appear in a forthcoming publication of the Princeton Historical Society on "Doctors and Medicine in Princeton."

She wrote several articles for the Princeton Recollector on early days in Princeton. When she retired in 1964 at the age of 70, her patients gave a party for her at Prospect. She moved to Meadow Lakes Village in Hightstown and spent her retirement years travelling, serving as doctor to a nursery school and founding a well-baby clinic.

Survivors include a brother, Dana G. Munro, who taught at the Woodrow Wilson School; two sisters, Carol Munro Sheldon of Spruce Head, Maine, and Alice Munro Haagensen of Palisades, N.Y.; nine nieces and nephews, and many great- and great-great-nieces and nephews.

A memorial service may be held in Princeton at a later date.

Augusta Biekart, 99, of Rocky Hill, died August 22 at Princeton Medical Center.

Mrs. Biekart was born in Heerenveen, Friesland, The Netherlands, and had lived in Rocky Hill for the past 60 years. She had been active with the Women's Circle of the Dutch Reformed Church of Highland Park. As a younger woman, she was active in Girl Scouting and bird-watching groups.

Mrs. Biekart was the wife of the late Hendrick M. Biekart, former Rutgers University professor of ornamental horticulture. She is survived by three daughters, Ann Huizing of Rocky Hill, Nell Beeton of Savannah, Ga., and Flora Campbell of Delray Beach, Fla.; eight grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren; and two great-great-grandchildren.

A private service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home. Private burial was in Rocky Hill Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the National Audubon Society.

Harris H. Thomas of 19 Haslet Avenue died August 20 at the Frances E. Parker Memorial Home in New Brunswick after a long illness. He was 81 and had taught French at Exeter Academy for 40 years.

Mr. Thomas graduated from Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., studied at the Sorbonne and received his master's degree in French literature at Middlebury College in Vermont. His first teaching post was at St. Paul's School in Concord, N.H. From 1931 to 1971 he taught at the Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter, N.H., where he also served as head of the Language Department.

In 1965 he set up in Rennes, France, the School Year Abroad program for students from Andover, Exeter and St. Paul's schools and was its director until 1971. For this he was twice decorated by the French Government. He was first made a Chevalier, later an Officier dons l'Ordre des Polmes Academiques.

He is survived by his second wife, Dorothy Young Morgenstern; three sons by his first marriage to Mary Walter, who died in 1972, Julian of Poughkeepsie, Charles of Belmont, Mass., and Benjamin of Chevy Chase, Md. He is alsn survived by two step-children, Carl Morgenstern of LaSelva Beach, Calif., and Karin Morgenstern of Bangor, Me.; and eight grandchildren.

Burial was in Castine, Me. A memorial service will be held at Exeter Academy on October 25 with the Rev. Frederick Buechner presiding. Memorial contributions may be made to the Castine Hospital, of which Mr. Thomas was chairman of the board for many years, or to the Phillips Exeter Academy.

Eleanor P. O'Hara of Lawrenceville, died August 19 in Helene Fuld Medical Center.

Born in Princeton, Mrs. O'Hara lived in Lawrenceville for the past 25 years. She was retired from the New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies, Division of Public Welfare, as a field service supervisor.

A graduate of Douglass College, Mrs. O'Hara was a member of St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church in Lawrenceville, the Lawrenceville Senior Citizens Club and the AARP.

Wife of the late Edward H. O'Hara, she is survived by a son, Edward J. O'Hara of Point Pleasant; two daughters, Patricia O'Hara of Princeton, and Sheila Koenig of Silver Spring, Md., and six grandchildren.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. Anne's Church with burial in St. Paul's Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the St. Ann's Building Fund, 1253 Lawrence Road, Lawrenceville 08648.

James V. Sweeney, 83, of Pennington, died August 25 at home. He was a well-known auto mechanic in the Pennington area for more than 70 years.

Mr. Sweeney was born in Woodsville and was a lifelong area resident. He was the self-employed owner of Sweeney's Garage in Pennington.

Husband of the late Mildren Atchley Sweeney, he is survived by a daughter, Doris S. Phillips of Pennington; two sisters, Estella Smith of Hopewell and Ella Lewis of Harbourton; a grandson, Bert Phillips of Pennington; a granddaughter, Sally Ziolkowski of Titusville; and five great-grandchildren, Jim, Jon and Julia Phillips of Pennington, and Jennifer and Heather Ziolkowski of Titusville.

The service was held at a Pennington funeral home, the Rev. Walter Coats, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Pennington, officiating. Burial was in Harbourton Cemetery.

Harriet Clayton Cuomo, 77, of Linden Lane, died August 26 at Princeton Medical Center.

Mrs. Cuomo was born in Princeton, attended Princeton High School and lived here all her life. She was a member of St. Paul's Church.

Daughter of the late Edward and Ellen Clayton and wife of the late Anthony Cuomo, she is survived by a daughter, Kathryn King of Princeton; a granddaughter, Cheri Crowl of Farmingdale; two grandsons, Patrick and Michael King of Princeton; and a great-granddaughter, Caitlin Crowl of Farmingdale.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 8:45 a.m. from the Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue. Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9:30 at St. Paul's Church with burial in St. Paul's Cemetery. Friends may call this Wednesday evening from 7 to 9 at the funeral home.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Rev. Prathia H. Wynn, minister at Mt. Sharon Baptist Church, Philadelphia, will preach Sunday at the 10 a.m. service in the chancel of Princeton University Chapel. Her sermon topic will be "The Decrease in the Increase."

Ms. Wynn is an alumnus of Temple University and Princeton Theological Seminary, where she is also currently a doctoral candidate in the Department of Church and Society.

Wes, Carol and Kym Mathis of Wes Mathis Ministries will be at Nassau Christian Church Sunday at 6:30. The church is at 26 Nassau Street, corner of Nassau and Chambers Streets.

Mr. Mathis is a concert artist and evangelist who grew up in New Jersey. After winning a youth talent contest, he traveled with Eddie Reece and the Hymntime Singers of Harrisburg, Pa., where he met his wife Carol. He attended Central bible College in Springfield, Mo., and was a vocalist with the Rivaltime Choir, the international radio choir of the Assemblies of God.

He served for 10 years as a staff support pastor before deciding to enter full time evangelism with his family. Mr. Mathis also teaches seminars in communication, organizational development, time management, church staff and board relationships and leadership training. His wife participates in all services, and their daughter Kym ministers with her puppets.

For more information, call the Rev. Jesse Owens, pastor, at 921-0981.

The Relief Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will meet Friday, September 5, at 7:30 at the home of Darla Fotheringham, 626 Sayre Drive. There will be classes on fabric framed mirrors, stirfry cooking, and a lecture on relaxation.

The Relief Society, a basic organization of the Church, is intended for women of all ages. It is an organization where women can meet, socialize, provide assistance to those in need and become skilled in their own home duties.

GUERNSEY HALL

This magnificent 19th century rotunda with its dome and spiral staircase is the entry way to perhaps the most unique condominium unit in the Princeton area. Located in Princeton Borough next to Marquand Park the unit consists of what were the main living areas of this distinctive Italianate Mansion. The 22 x 24 foot living room has 14 foot ceilings, decorative moldings, and Italian Renaissance marble fireplace. The dining room also has fireplace, built-in cabinets, and opens to a covered brick terrace with stone archway which leads to a second open brick terrace. Off the dining room an efficient modern kitchen with island and excellent cabinets. The bedroom with its own dressing area is teak panelled with a beautifully decorative frescoed ceiling. A full bath adjoins and a great powder room is nearby. Central air, on premises caretaker, and grounds with specimen trees and shrubs are further features. $325,000

CONSTITUTION HILL

Gracious single family condominium at Constitution Hill, one of only ten single units on the former 47 acre Morgan Estate. Contemporary in appointments, energy efficient in construction but reminiscent of the Morgan mansion in its architecture. Southern exposure and privacy of location with mature landscaping. The first floor features generous entry hall with slate floor dramatic living/dining room with arched window, cathedral ceiling and imported 18th century fireplace mantel; contemporary kitchen; master suite with bath and dressing area with many built-ins. Upstairs a study-loft with bookcases, second bedroom and full bath, many deep closets, attic storage above two-car garage. Wine cellar. Pool and tennis courts on grounds. $400,000

BEDENS BROOK AREA

In the lovely countryside just north of Princeton this immaculate Colonial has all the features for comfortable family living. An entry hall leads to a spacious 26 foot living room, separate dining room, bright eat-in-kitchen, adjoining family room with pegged oak floor and brick fireplace with sliding doors to the patio. Separate utility room, powder room. Upstairs, four bedrooms and two baths plus a fifth bedroom or study on third. Beautiful in-ground pool. Acre plus lot with great views from all directions $298,500

ELM RIDGE PARK

OPEN WIDE AND SAY "AH"! This great looking Federal Colonial with its brick and clapboard facade, long windows, and classic dormers is full of special features to brighten and light up your life. A two-story entry hall leads to a step-down living room with fireplace and unique walk-in bay window for plants and sun. A well proportioned formal dining room leads to a huge kitchen-great room 18 x 26 with breakfast area, skylights, floor to ceiling windows, JennAire appliances, greenhouse bay window, and terra cotta tile floor. A sunken family room with floor to ceiling two-way fireplace and French doors to the outside leads to two more spectacular spaces -- a 12 x 16 brick floored greenhouse with fireplace and a separate two-story cathedral ceiling library with free-standing stairs to the master bedroom loft and suite. Upstairs a complete master suite includes large bedroom, adjoining den-sitting room with walk-in bay windows and a master bath with tiled Jacuzzi and ceramic stall shower. Three other ample bedrooms and large hall bath complete the second floor. Full attic, basement, three-car garage, and outdoor deck. Occupancy early fall. We challenge you to match this. $346,000

GALLUP ROAD

This attractive two-story Colonial has marvelous living space both inside and out. Inside, the traditional center hall is flanked by formal living and dining rooms. The kitchen is especially spacious with ample cabinets and counter space plus a breakfast bar. Adjoining through a wide doorway is a panelled step down family room with corner fireplace and bookshelves and a door to a twenty-five foot screen porch. Upstairs there are five bedrooms and two baths including a master suite with its own bath. Full storage attic, 900 square foot basement, and a three-car garage. Outside the two acre lot is a virtual arboretum with a variety of lush shade trees, ornamental shrubs and flower beds. Available soon. $365,000

PRINCETON BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

A prosperous Nassau Street flower shop is now available. The shop has large display windows both on Nassau Street and along a side walkway and has convenient on and off street customer parking. The interior space of approximately 1,666 square feet is ample room for display, work area, and refrigerated storage and display. The sale price includes the name, all appliances and fixtures, a vehicle, etc. Real estate not included but renewal lease possible. $115,000

Season's (Unofficial) Green Thumb Award Goes to Pauldi Hutter of Ewing Street

Each year at this harvest season, TOWN TOPICS receives a phone call or a note notifying us of a particular feat of homegrown produce by a resident of this suburban community.

A neighbor has a zucchini three feet long and as big around as a watermelon, the note will advise us; wouldn't the newspaper like to send a photographer? We are always glad to get these bulletins, because you never know what is growing and ripening in a backyard, away from the view of dog walker or cyclist, let alone motorist.

This year's nomination for the Green Thumb award was sent in by Katherine Montgomery of 55 Rollingmead on behalf of her friend Leopauldine (Pauldi) Hutter. It seems that Mrs. Hutter spends many hours in her back yard garden at 178 Ewing Street and "can make anything grow." Her sister sent her two tomato seedlings from Mexico, and one in particular, writes Mrs. Montgomery, "threatens to take over the whole place, and who knows, come into her kitchen and take over the house.

"The tomatoes they are bearing are simply giants but the flavor is that of those tiny little round yellow tomatoes one gets in early fall." Mrs. Montgomery ends her note by suggesting that a story and a photograph would make "a nice change from sewer and Palmer Square problems" and signs it, "Your Constant Reader."

GREEN THUMB AWARD 1985: Pauldi Hutter holds tomatoes from her garden that weighed more than two pounds. An even larger one was on the vine. TOWN TOPICS does not claim these are the largest tomatoes grown in Princeton this summer; merely that they were grown single-handedly in the best-kept garden in the women's division, age 70 and over category.

Well-Kept Garden. Intrigued, we stopped by 178 Ewing Street late one afternoon. Tucked into the elbow of that thoroughfare, just before it rejoins Harrison Street, is an immaculate little yellow stucco house with green and white trim. Behind it, extending all the way to Hawthorne Avenue, is one of the best-kept gardens in Princeton, a little paradise of neatly trimmed hedges and shrubs, tidy beds of perennials edged with brick, thriving ornamental and flowering trees, and even a picture-book wishing well.

Although it is August, a time of reduced bloom in most gardens, and a drought year to boot, this garden abounds with yellow daisies and chrysanthemum, purple snapdragons and cosmos, tall white snow-on-the-mountain, blue ageratum, heavenly pink roses, darker pink asters, brilliant red coxcomb and geraniums and begonias in various hues.

The two Mexican tomato vines are there, restrained from "taking over," as Mrs. Montgomery feared, by cloth ties and stakes. One is by the wishing well, and the other in the fenced vegetable garden. Both are weighed down by enormous red ripening tomatoes, each bigger than a softball.

In the vegetable garden, which is no larger than a horse stall, there are also abundant yellow cherry tomatoes, lettuce seedlings of various heights to be transplanted indoors for salads all winter long, two kinds of beans, an everbearing patch of New Zealand spinach, another of parsley and a celery-like plant the leaves of which Mrs. Hutter says are good for the lungs.

An Energetic Gardener. Mrs. Hutter, cheerful and energetic at age 74, has tended all of this herself since the death of her husband five years ago. She mows the lawn, trims all the hedges and shrubs, clips away the grass from around the stones that form a walkway winding the length of this miniature estate. And it does seem to be true that she "can grow anything."

There is the plum tree, for instance, by the side of the house, at least eight feet tall and loaded with perfectly formed purple fruit, which she grew from the seed within a pit. Or the delicate, red-leaved Japanese maple trees of varying sizes which began as cuttings. She can recount the origin of many of the plants, from seedlings traded with a friend, to cuttings of some variety or species she thought she would "try" to see if it would grow.

Like most gardeners, Mrs. Hutter says hers is at its peak in spring, when the tulips and bleeding heart in the round bed in the center of the yard are overhung with white dogwood lining the sides. One can see evidence of primroses and peonies, eidelweiss and forget-me-nots, candy tuft and mountain pinks that bloomed earlier.

Everywhere too, there are "volunteers," plants that seem to spring up by themselves, thriving on manure-enriched soil and daily tending.

Raised on a Farm. Born and raised on a farm in Austria, Mrs. Hutter came to this country in 1938. She lived in Brooklyn for three years until she met and married John Hutter. He was from another village in Austria, and she had known his family there.

John was a cook at Cottage Club at Princeton University and ultimately head chef. He retired in 1966, after 40 years. Until 1960, she cooked with him, and when Cottage Club was closed during the war, or on vacation, she cooked and cleaned for Princeton families, notably members of the Institute for Advanced Study. She tended Mrs. Oswald Veblen from the time her mathematician husband died in 1960 to her own death in 1973, for instance.

Cooking seems to be as much of an avocation for Mrs. Hutter as is gardening, and the two activities are a natural complement to each other. From the plum tree comes plum cake and a mashed, cooked sauce, like applesauce. Tomatoes that are not eaten straight from the vine are boiled into juice.

The neighbors give her the fruit of their quince apple trees, and she will share with them her quince apple jelly. She makes all her own bread, and for weeks before Christmas is immersed in baking cookies and cakes to give away.

The TOWN TOPICS reporter, who went for a photograph and a story on something other than sewers and the Harrison Street bridge, came away laden with New Zealand spinach and yellow cherry tomatoes.

The rewards of journalism are frequently the interesting people one meets and the new things one learns. Rarely do they include a slice of superb plum cake from the hand of a woman like Pauldi Hutter, cook and gardener extraordinaire and a warm-hearted, hard-working person.

RUN IS EXTENDED

For 'Agnes of God.' Agnes of God by John Pielmeier, Stage One Productions' first offering, will move to Trenton's Mill Hill Playhouse after a highly successful run at Rider College.

The drama opens in Trenton on Friday, September 13, and continues on September 14, 20 and 21, with performances at 8 p.m. There will be a Sunday matinee performance at 3 p.m. on September 15.

Tickets are $7.50 each for evening performances. The Sunday matinee is $5.50. Ticket reservations may be made by calling the Stage One box office at 683-0444.

The play, which concerns a court-appointed psychiatrists' investigation into the murder of a baby in a convent, features Lila Howley as Dr. Martha Livingstone. Agnes, accused of the crime, is played by Lona Marchetti, and June Connerton portrays her protective Mother Superior. The set and lighting design are by Gene Ericson.

The Mill Hill Playhouse is located at the corner of Front and Montgomery Streets in downtown Trenton. For ticket reservations call 683-0444.

THREE MOVIES PLANNED

For Final Week. Two different examples of the increasingly popular "reunion" film — Lawrence Kasdan's The Big Chill and Sayles' Return of the Secaucus Seven, plus Robert Redford's hit of last summer, The Natural will make up the three titles sharing the billing for the twelfth and final week of McCarter Theatre's Summer Cinema '85 season at Kresge Auditorium.

The Big Chill, which opened the 1983 New York Film Festival at Lincoln Center and went on to place on virtually every critics "Ten Best" list for that year, will open the Summer cinema double-feature with nightly showings beginning Wednesday, August 28 and continuing through Labor Day, Monday, September 2.

Written and directed by Lawrence Kasdan, it chronicles the reunion of seven friends who went through college together as veterans of the activist 60's and convene to mourn the suicide death of a friend — as well as their own consciousness.

In the course of a long weekend at a southern mansion, the seven revel in lost illusions and faded memories, moving from depression to high spirits, to boozy, druggy confessions, accusations, and revelations of long-hidden disappointments. The cast includes Tom Berenger, Glenn Close, Jeff Goldblum, William Hurt, Mary Kay Place, Kevin Kline, Meg Tilly and JoBeth Williams.

Return of the Secaucus Seven, made in 1979, marked the directorial debut of John Sayles who wrote, produced and directed his independent movie on a shoestring budget of only $60,000. Shot entirely in New Hampshire in only 25 days, the film also deals with the summer weekend reunion of a group of friends who had grown up together in the political activist-counter-culture movement of the late 1960's.

Now, ten years later, they gather for a houseparty of charades, basketball, skinny-dipping and nostalgia. They are all about 30, and their former idealism has evolved into practicality as they accept the compromises of middle-age. In the course of the weekend, they make love, talk about making love, redefine their relationships, and try to come to grips with the future, while at the same time holding on to their shared experiences of the past.

Return of the Secaucus Seven will be the co-feature with the The Big Chill Wednesday through Friday only, and will be succeeded for the last three days of the Summer Cinema season — Saturday through Monday, by director Barry Levinson's screen adaptation of Bernard malamud's The Natural, starring Robert Redford. Malamud's 1952 novel weaves baseball folklore, a Babe Ruth-like figure and the Black Sox scandal into a mythological story of a gifted natural athlete who falls from grace because of character flaws.

Redford plays Roy Hobbs, a midwestern farm boy first seen heading for Chicago, determined to pitch for the Cubs. But on his first night in the big city, his dreams are shattered when a psychotic young beauty lures him to her hotel room and shoots him with a silver bullet. Sixteen years later, Hobbs becomes the oldest rookie in the majors when he reappears and tries to make a comeback with the fictional 1939 New York Knights.

FANCIFUL MUSICAL DUE

At Hopewell Theatre. Once Upon a Mattress the musical based on The Princess and the Peo, opens Friday at the Off-Broadstreet Dessert Theatre in Hopewell.

The role of Winnifred made famous on Broadway by Carol Burnett will be played by Diane Heery. In the role of Dauntless, the Prince in need of a Princess will be Eric Boies. The cast is made up entirely of professionals, mainly from New York and Philadelphia. The cast is then rounded out with talented professionals from this area.

In addition to Diane Heery and Eric Boies, the cast includes Beverly Gorelick as the endlessly talkative mother, Ron Platt as the mute King, Eric Single as the court jester, John Kemp as the court minstrel, Patrick McDade as the court wizard, Matthew Clayton as a dashing Knight, Mary Kemp as a court lady in trouble, Rene Goodwin and Vivian Alperin as ladies in waiting and Tom Bessellieu and Joe Stanton knights.

Robert Thick is directing, and Julie Thick is staging the dances. Patty Hibart has designed the colorful medieval court costumes and Scott Ward is musical director.

Performances of Once Upon a Mattress are Friday through Sunday, August 30 through October 5. On Friday and Saturdays dessert is at 7 p.m. and curtain is at 8 p.m. On Sundays, dessert is at 1:30 p.m. and curtain is at 2:30 p.m. Admission is $12.50. For reservations call the Off-Broadstreet Theatre box office at 5 South Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell, telephone 466-2766.

'MY FAIR LADY' DUE

At Bucks County. The colorful circus musical Bornum again takes center stage at Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, Pa., through Monday. It will be followed by the second run of My Fair Lady from September 3 through 8. Both shows appeared at Bucks County Playhouse earlier this season.

Barnum is a gaudy musical built around the hustling career of P.T. Barnum, known as the "World's Greatest Showman." Labeled the "greatest family entertainment in the world," the show ran on Broadway for 2,844 performances. My Fair Lady is virtually a legend in theatre history and is still at-

DOGS WILL STAR

In Film Series. Dogs will star in the young people's film series at the New Jersey State Museum in September and October. Admission is free, and unless otherwise noted the films are scheduled on Saturday at 1 and 3 p.m. and Sunday at 1 p.m.

Lost tells the story of a girl and her dog lost in the wilderness and will be shown on September 7 and 8. The second film is Digby, The Biggest Dog in the World, scheduled for September 14 and 15. This is the story of a dog who swallows a chemical and turns into a 30-foot high animal. This results in a comic chase by those interested in catching him.

C.H.O.M.P.S. is the story of a crime fighting canine that is a cute robot dog with only one flaw that keeps everyone laughing. It will be shown September 21 and 22. Legend of the Northwest, a heartwarming story of daring, suspense, and loyalty, will be shown on September 28 and 29.

Walt Disney's frontier drama, Old Yeller, will be shown October 5 and 6. It stars Fess Parker, Chuck Connors, Dorothy McGuire, and Tommy Kirk in the classic story of a faithful pet.

Summerdog, scheduled for October 12 and 13, is the story of one family's antics trying to keep a dog in a city apartment. The next film is Shaggy Dog and it will only be shown on Sunday, October 20. The series concludes on October 26 and 27 with Oh! Heavenly Dog, starring Chevy Chase.

The State Museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 9 to 4:45 and Sunday from 1 to 5. Admission is free.

MUSIC

REGISTRATION OPEN

For Marjorie's Music. Marjorie's Music for Children is now accepting registrations for its fall programs in music for children 3 to 11. Classes, which begin September 9, are offered at the Arts Council of Princeton, the Rocky Hill Reformed Church and the Pennington Montessori School.

Classes are held weekly, during weekday afternoons and Saturday mornings. Children are placed by age, ability and location. Late enrollment depends on individual classroom situations.

The studio, now in its fourth year, is offering a new group of artistic and creative programs, including: "Music Magical and Imaginative" for children 3 to 7; "Performance Ensemble" for any students with the ability, "Eurythmic Movement" for ages 6 to 9; and "Private and Group Piano", ages 6 to 11.

During school vacations throughout the year marionette-making sessions are offered for all ages. A series of musical marionette shows will begin at the Arts Council on Columbus Day (October 14).

For further information call 201-297-6151 or come to the Open House at the Arts Council of Princeton, 102 Witherspoon Street, on September 6 from 2 to 5 or September 7 from 10 to noon. A highlight will be a marionette version of Pinocchio.

AUDITIONS AT RUTGERS

For Singing Group. Auditions will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, September 4, from 7-9 p.m. for the Rutgers Collegium Musicum, a vocal and instrumental group specializing in the performance of Medieval through early Baroque music.

Membership is open to the public as well as to students, faculty and staff at New Jersey's State University. Auditions will be held in Room 304 of the Music Building on the Douglass College campus. The facility is part of the arts complex on George Street.

The ensemble consists of 12 to 16 singers of all voice categories and 12 instrumentalists who play Renaissance instruments, including viols, recorders, crumhorns, cornettos, sackbuts and lute.

The 1985-86 season will include performances of the Christmas Oratorio by Heinrich Schuetz plus Christmas favorites on December 3 and a program of madrigals and dances titled "Love Songs from the Renaissance" on February 15-16, 1986.

The collegium is sponsored by the music department of the Mason Gross School of the Arts at New Jersey's State University.

Dr. Scott Whitener, an associate professor of music directs the instrumentalists. A graduate of Juilliard, Whitener has performed professionally under Pablo Casals and Raphael Kubelik.

Prof. Frederick Urrey, who leads the vocalists, has had wide experience as a soloist with major European and American early music ensembles, such as the Clemencic Consort and Musica Instrumentalis of Vienna and the Baltimore Consort.

For additional information call (201) 932-8862.

SERIES TO END

With Jazz Concert. The Saxophone Jazz Ensemble will give a free concert Saturday at 7 at Mercer County Park, West Windsor.

The performance ends the 1985 "Music In the Park" series presented by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission during July and August.

The Saxophone Jazz Ensemble features Mike Plumeri (alto and tenor sax), Tony Anzivino and Bob Vanisko (both tenor sax), Bill Maisto (baritone sax), Guy Ciarica (piano and vocals), Nick Poveromo (bass), and Jim Moore (drums).

The performance will be held adjacent to the ice rink at Mercer County Park. Bring blankets and chairs — it's a nice place to picnic. In the event of rain, performances will be held inside the rink.

For further information the day of the concert, call Mercer County Park at 586-8090.

MUSICIANSHIP FOCUS

Of Conservatory Program. The Westminster Conservatory of Music, a division of Westminster Choir College, offers a program of comprehensive musicianship training. The Conservatory believes that developing listening skills and the ability to read and interpret music is important to the music education of a student and can be accomplished through a supplementary program of ensemble lessons and theory classes.

In the theory program, students have access to the computer lab where individual drill work can be practiced. The theory course, through additional training and reinforcement, also enhances and improves the level of progress in private instrumental lessons.

For younger students, the Conservatory offers "Musical Explorations," using an approach that incorporates activity with listening. Geoffrey Petersen, former head of the Music Department at the Town School in New York City and assistant conductor of the Newark Boys' Chorus, will act as coordinator for these theory programs.

As part of its comprehensive musicianship approach, the Conservatory of Music offers a variety of other ensembles which give students the chance to learn the joys and techniques of making music together. There is a 12-week ensemble program, plus flute ensemble, percussion ensemble, Baroque chamber music and Jayn Rosenfeld's chamber music workshop.

For singers, there is the Conservatory Chamber Chorus and vocal traning for young singers. Kindermusic is offered for very young students, 4-6 years old.

Conservatory students are given private instruction as well as the opportunity to receive motivation and inspiration from learning with each other. There is a group piano program and an adult piano group designed for adults with limited practice time.

For further information call Kathleen Bullivant, 921-7104.

PAINTING CLASSES

Offered in Oil and Acrylic. Mercer County Community College will offer three classes in oil and acrylic painting during the fall semester, beginning Tuesday, September 3.

An introduction to painting (Painting I), geared for the beginning student, will be taught Monday and Wednesday nights from 7:10 to 9:30.

There will be two classes in Painting II, which is geared for the more advanced student. One class wil meet Monday and Wednesday nights from 7:10 to 9:30; the other will meet Tuesday mornings from 9:10 to 11 and Thorsday mornings from 8:10 to 11.

Both classes are open to matriculating students who are interested in working toward an associate in arts degree and to non-matriculating students interested in taking one or two courses in painting under painting instructors Mel Leipzig of Trenton and Jack Harris of Titusville.

All classes in painting at MCCC are designed to give the student a sound technical background in both figurative and abstract painting. The development of each student's personal expression is encouraged by these two teachers.

Additional information may be obtained by calling MCCC at 586-4800, ext. 350.

'ACTUAL' ART ON VIEW

At Squibb. "Time Will Tell," an exhibition of Actual art scheduled to be on display at the Squibb Gallery through September 3, will close Sunday. Refurbishing of Squibb's corporate headquarters, which houses the Gallery, has caused the schedule change.

"DAY: SERIES 2, 3 MAR 1985, ALEXANDER HALL," a pastel and pencil on canvas board by Stan Kephart, will on exhibit at the Full House Gallery in Kingston through August 31.

"Time Will Tell," the Gallery's first summer-long exhibition, features the work of seven artists prominent in an emerging art form called Actualism. The artists, using time and the change inherent in all materials, let nature finish the works of art that they began. New York Times art critic William Zimmer wrote of the exhibition, "...one appreciates that the door is open to nature, and that is what gives 'Time Will Tell'... its dignity."

The Gallery's next public exhibition, "Fifty Years of Contemporary Art," running October 6 through November 3, will feature paintings and sculptures from private art collections. A preview opening on October 4 will benefit the Mercer area Planned Parenthood Association.

ARTIST TO TEACH

At Commonity College. Marge Chavooshian, a well-known watercolorist, has joined the Visual Arts faculty at Mercer County Community College as adjunct assistant professor. She will teach watercolor painting to both beginners and advanced students during the fall semester at MCCC's West Windsor campus on Saturdays from 9 to 1:30.

Ms. Chavooshian studied with American artists Reginald Marsh and Mario Cooper. She has received more than 50 awards for her watercolors and has had one-woman shows at the Jewish Community Center in Ewing Township, the Trenton City Museum and the New Jersey State Museum. Her work is in the permanent collection of almost every New Jersey museum as well as the Art Museum San Lazare, in Venice, Italy. This year her watercolors were included in the March issue of American Artist.

For more information on the class, call MCCC at 586-4800, ext. 350.

EXHIBITIONS

An exhibition of sculptures and drawings by Annelies Pruisken, 23 Hardin Road, will open on Friday, September 6, at the Arts Council of Princeton.

The pieces included in the exhibition are inspired by the artist's observations of walruses, seals, and sea lions in the Chicago Museum of Natural History. This summer she traveled to The Dolphinarium, Harderwyck, Holland, where she sketched and recorded the sounds produced by walruses, dolphins, and killer whales. These recordings, by Kees Van der Knapp, will accompany her sculptures and drawings.

A reception is planned for opening day from 7 to 9 p.m. Refreshments and entertainment will be available in The Nameless Cafe at the Arts Council until 11.

Ms. Pruisken is a Dutch artist who has lived in the United States for nine years. She attended the School of the Art Institue of Chicago, where she received her BFA. She subsequently obtained her MFA at the Yale School of Art. An exhibition of her work is slated for a January, 1986, opening at the Pleiades Gallery, Mercer Street, NYC.

The exhibition will continue through October 6. The gallery at the Arts Council is free to the public and open Tuesday through Friday from 12 to 5 p.m. and by appointment.

Rogerson Faces Difficult Task in Trying to Revive Princeton University's Sagging Football Fortunes

Welcome, Princeton football fans to the Ron Rogerson era.

It's time to put lesser matters like the search for peace in the Mid-East, the budget deficit and tax reform, and new vs. old Coke aside, and consider the one great question that now confronts us. Can the new coach revive the Tigers' sagging gridiron program?

The fourth head coach in the sport here in the last 14 years, the man from Maine will try to return Princeton football to the success it hasn't seen since Dick Coleman coached in the sixties. Jake McCandless, Bob Casciola and Frank Navarro have come and gone, all with losing records. Navarro achieved a temporary turnaround with three consecutive winning campaigns (no Ivy titles among them), but these were followed by three losing ones despite solid material.

It said here last August that Navarro would be gone if he couldn't produce a winning team, and two days after the final game saddled him with a 4-5 record, he was.

Homer Smith's Shadow. Rogerson comes to town as definitely not everybody's first choice to succeed Navarro. Prospect magazine ran a long article in June quoting several alumni involved in the recruiting of football players, who were very disenchanted with Rogerson's selection and the way it was made. Homer Smith was the first pick of many, but Rogerson was the first choice of the man whose choice it was: athletic director Bob Myslik.

So Rogerson may be much more under the gun in his first season than Navarro was in 1978, when he posted a 2-5-2 mark. That kind of record will be much harder for alumni to swallow this time around.

HALF OF THIS TOUCHDOWN COMBINATION IS GONE: Derek Graham (left) and Doug Butler combined for 18 touchdowns the past two years, but with Graham now graduated, Butler will have to find a new target for his tosses. The hope is that Tom Urquhart, Ted Fire and sophomore Jeff Baker will take his place.

The new coach will have to hope that quarterback Doug Butler and the rest of the offense can adapt quickly to the Wing-T he plans to install. The defense, which showed definite signs of improvement in 1984, will need to continue on that track.

But most importantly, Rogerson must instill his own brand of positive thinking among players whose potential often seemed to outweigh their Saturday performances. Promising seasons turned into disaster under Navarro when the Tigers consistently lost to teams of equal or lesser ability.

Winning Won't Be Easy. A year ago the Orange and Black had the talent and a schedule that made a winning season seem almost a certainty, and a league title a decent possibility. Rogerson has fewer returning starters to work with, and not as favorable a schedule.

Princeton will play four of its first five Ivy games on the road, meeting only Columbia in Palmer Stadium in the first eight weeks of the season. All its non-league opponents will play here, but while there is no powerhouse like Navy to be faced, Lehigh, Colgate and William and Mary will all be tough contests.

In pre-season estimates, Yale is looked upon as having the best shot at replacing Penn at the top, with the Quakers and Harvard in close pursuit. The Elis, picked to finish last a year ago, won six out of their last seven games and finished with a 6-3 mark, 5-2 in the league. They have proven performers returning at the skill positions.

Brown, Cornell, Dartmouth and hopefully Princeton will battle for the remaining spot in the top four. It's doubtful Columbia's new coach, Jim Garrett, will be able to perform any miracles in his first year, but he might squeeze the Lions out of the cellar.

How Fast Can Butler Adapt? With only eight of 22 starters returning, Rogerson will have plenty to work on before the opening game, and the most important will be the conversion of senior Doug Butler to a Wing-T quarterback. His ability to adapt to the new system is key to a successful season.

A second team all-Ivy pick each of the last two years, Butler has already set a pack of season and even career records in passing. But, he is coming off a junior year that did not quite live up to his achievements as a sophomore.

In his first year Butler completed 224 of 398 attempts for 3,175 yards and 25 touchdowns. Last fall his stats fell off considerably: 164 completions in 309 attempts for 2,179 yards and 10 TD's. Whether the fault lies with the coaching staff's play calling, or with Butler, himself, the Tigers' offense faltered far too often last fall.

Although the Wing-T is primarily a run-oriented offense, Rogerson and his staff will certainly take advantage of Butler's strong arm. His running assignments will undoubtedly be more limited. Rogerson has already said he does not plan to have Butler run the trap or speed option.

If he can get on target with his receivers, Butler's running will not be missed. If he has problems, the team will have problems; and it's doubtful calling on a back-up will solve them.

Junior Sean Welsh, 6'4, 208, is likely to have that position. Welsh is not noted for his speed, and saw very little action as a sophomore last year,

Who was the oldest man ever to play college football? ... Surprisingly, a 43-year-old man once played college football ... He was Mel Dixon who graduated from high school in 1944 but didn't go to college then ... However, 29 years later, in 1973, he enrolled at Fairleigh Dickinson University and went out for the football team ... He made the team, as an end, and was older than the coach, old enough to be the father of any of his teammates – and the oldest man ever to play college football.

Can you name the last 5 teams to win the national championship in major-college football? ... They are Brigham Young in 1984 ... Miami of Florida in 1983 ... Penn State in 1982 ... Clemson in 1981 ... And, Georgia in 1980.

throwing only three passes. Behind him are juniors Brad Hammond and Gary Weisglas. The former has the potential to become Butler's back-up and gain the starting nod next year.

The most promising replacement for Butler, Jason Garrett, who had a superb year as a freshman, transferred to Columbia when his father was named coach there. He will lose a year of eligibility, and will not be able to play until 1986.

Two Good Running Backs. For the first time since Larry van Pelt and Mike Neary were in the backfield four years ago, Princeton has a pair of bruising senior running backs who may make the ground game an honest threat. Tailback Chris Ratliff and fullback Butch Climmons, who both came on in the latter stages of the '84 season, have the potential to make Rogerson's Wing-T work.

Interestingly, last year was the first time since 1980 that Princeton ran the ball more than it passed, 339 to 311, but passing yardage still surpassed that gained on the ground by a wide margin.

Ratliff, 6-1, 205, dislocated an elbow in the opening contest against Cornell, and did not come back until the Penn game. He rushed for more than 100 yards in that contest, and also in final two against Yale and Dartmouth. Behind Ratliff will be junior Steve Magoline, who saw action in seven games, rushing for 238 yards on 55 carries. He had Princeton's longest run from scrimmage a whopping 39 yards against Cornell in the first game. That tells you something about the running game right there.

Craig Fitchett, 6-1, 200, returns to the backfield after sitting out the 1984 season. He played in eight games as a sophomore.

Climmons, also blossomed in the final games. He saw action in eight of the nine games and had 121 yards in 20 carries for a 6.1 average. he also caught eight passes for 85 yards.

John Matthias, 5-10, 222, is a senior now and has one final shot to show what he can do at fullback. Followers of Princeton football have heard about his potential for three years, but after a good freshman season, injuries have kept him on the sidelines. Last year after a promising start (37 yards in six carries), he broke his leg in the Bucknell game.

Ron Rogerson
Can He Turn It Around?

First Guthrie, Now Graham. Last year Kevin Guthrie was gone after a record-breaking season, now Derek Graham has departed. He also holds several University and Ivy marks, and was only the tenth player in league history to be named first team all-Ivy three years running.

The decision of Mark Dexter not to play this season opens up another spot to be filled in the receiving corps. The leading contender for Graham's spot is senior Tom Urquhart, 6-0, 168, who saw action as a punt returner and broke one for 75 yards against Columbia. Junior Bill Adams, 6-4, 198, and Paul DeMuro, 6-4, 191, will also contend for playing time.

With Dexter gone, senior Ted Fire may be able to win back the starting flanker role, he lost early last fall. Fire caught six passes for 61 yards, but had a bad habit of dropping the ball on occasion. Sophomore Jeff Baker, 6-2, 175, had an excellent freshman campaign, catching six TD passes, and has a good shot at winning a starting role.

Greg Kaiser, the third leading receiver on the team last year, has graduated, leaving the tight end spot wide open. His back-up junior Scott Koski, 6-5, 210, will battle sophomore Doug Struckman, 6-4, 195, and junior Mike Behrman, 6-3, 200 for the job.

4 Starters Gone from Line. Four starters have graduated from last year's offensive line, two of them all-Ivy selections. Chal Taylor and big Alonzo Bell gained that recognition at guard and tackle; the other guard, a two-year starter, Jack DeWalt and the center Joe Vignone, have departed.

That leaves tackle Eric Dreiband, 6-4, 270, as the lone returning starter. Center Kevin Slayden, who started several games when Vignone was injured, would have provided some experience, but he has decided not to play football this fall. That leaves the battle for center wide open.

Another senior Jay Fitzgibbons is a strong candidate for one of the vacant guard spots. Senior Mike Aladich, 6-2, 246, has gained valuable experience in his first two years at tackle and may get the nod to replace Bell.

Beyond that, Rogerson will be hoping that some sophomores can make a quick transition to the varsity. Those with the most potential include Mark Seilhamer, 6-3, 225, and Josh Chambers, 6-1, 215, John Crews, 6-4, 210, Andy Johanni, 6-3, 246, and Dave Milliken, 6-4, 215.

JERSEY CORN TRIUMPHS For Fifth Playoff Title. Although Sweet Jersey Corn lost the regular season league championship to Grove Plumbing this season in the Mercer County Women's A Softball League, it came back to defeat Grove last week in the third and final game of the post season playoffs.

The Corn, playing without three regulars because of injuries or vacation, defeated Grove, 5-3, to win the league playoffs for the fifth consecutive year. Pitcher Clare Baxter got the win.

Sandi Hibbs led the victors at the plate with three hits while Dee Discavage, Joanne Zola, Laura Johnson and Doreen Ragazzo added two each.

No World Tournament. Because he had three players sidelined with injuries (Beth Ault, Andrea Lorentangeli and Hibbs) and another on vacation, SJC manager Steve Cohen opted not to play in the USSSA B World Tournament in Peabody, Ma.

In looking back over the just-ended season, Cohen could find a great deal of satisfaction — even though his team was not the overpowering presence in the league it has been in previous years.

SJC won the the USSSA B state title for the third straight year and the Cornsters also won the Champale and June Classic tournaments this year — two it hadn't won in the past. "Over the past five years, we've won every major tournament in the state at least once," noted Cohen.

Finally, there was that measure of atonement against Grove Plumbing which has wrestled the regular league title this year from SJC.

"It's a great feeling to end on a winning note that way," said Cohen. "It was a struggle but it was a good season for us."

CHECKERED FLAG

For Princeton Driver. The checkered flag continues to fall for Princeton race driver Bruce Cleveland.

Driving a Crossle Formula Ford, the Meadowbrook Drive resident recently won two Skip Barber Races races and placed second three times in races at Summit Point, W. Va., Lime Rock and Watkins Glen. Drivers compete in identically prepared cars to emphasize driver skill.

The Skip Barber Race Series is made up of eight racing weekends and is run by former Formula 1 driver Skip Barber. Points are awarded for each finish.

Off his recent victories, Cleveland has climbed to seventh place in the field of more then 100 entry-level drivers and with two races left in the series, has a chance of winning the championship.

CONTE-STAATS VICTOR

In Princeton Softball. Conte-Staats, perhaps the most consistent winner over the years in the Princeton Men's Slow Pitch Softball League, proved last week that it can still win the big ones.

Conte's rode the pitching of Pepper Taylor and the hitting of Bob Zinsmeister to defeat Andy's Tavern, 8-6, last week to win the championship playoffs two games to none.

"It's all over — unfortunately," commented Andy's manager Jeff Petrone. "They hit the ball well for two games against us."

The outcome was the reverse of last year when Conte-Staats won the regular season championship but lost out in the playoffs where Andy's defeated Princeton Italian-American Sportsmen Club for the title. This year, Andy's defeated Conte's in a playoff to win the regular-season crown but was a victim of Conte's in the playoffs.

Both team entered the final series loaded with veteran players at every position and familiar with each other's strengths.

Faced with a must-win situation, Andy's, which had won 17 straight until it lost to Conte's in the playoff opener, took a 5-2 lead after three innings.

After Andy's had scored one run in the first, Zinsmeister, Conte's leadoff batter, greeted Andy's pitcher Jeff Grover with a home run to tie the score.

Andy's regained the lead with a four-run rally in the third which featured hits by Scott Porreca, Grover, Pat Kahny, Dave Shillaber's double and a two-run sacrifice by Mike Shillaber.

As it had in the first game, however, Conte's kept pecking away at Grover. It added one run and then two more in the forth to cut its deficit to 5-4. In the fifth it took the lead for good with a four-run rally of its own.

Singles by Ray Clark, Zinsmeister and DH Bill McQuade loaded the bases. Veteran George McVaugh then followed with another single to tie the score at 5.

Smith's sacrifice fly plated the go-ahead run and when Mark Schuster solved Grover for a two-run double, Conte's had a three-run lead.

Conte's outhit the losers, 14-12 and had five players with two hits each: McQuade, Zinsmeister, Clark, Pesce and Schuster. The Shillaber brothers, Porreca and Ken Bruvik each had two hits for Andy's.

Pesce singled out Taylor's effort on the mound as being instrumental in Conte's success. The lanky first-baseman stepped in for McQuade, the regular hurler who was on vacation, and posted a 4-0 record in the playoffs.

"We decided to stay with the hot gut," said Pesce. "I think he's really our MVP."

"We had a productive season," countered Petrone for Andy's. "Things went well — except for the last week."

Conte's ended the season with a 23-4 record; Andy's finished 22-4.

SENIOR OLYMPICS

Designed for Fun. The Princeton Senior Olympics, now in its second year, will be held next Wednesday, September 4, at the Community Park pool complex from 9 to 1. The rain date will be the following day.

The Olympics, although mostly for fun, will also feature events designed to improve flexibility, strength, balance and endurance of older citizens. Included will be swimming, bocce, frisbee and softball throwing, hole-in-one, basketball toss, horseshoes and walking. Awards will be given for the best performances in each of several age groups from 60 to 75 and older.

In addition to the athletic events, the program will include lunch provided by Princeton Caterers, T-shirts donated by Horizon Trust Co., and, to add to the festivities, balloons given by Landau's.

Sponsors of the event are the Princeton Resource Center, the Princeton Recreation Department and the YWCA. On the planning committee are Jocelyn Helm, Kathie Clarkson, Barbara Daume, Robert Sinkler, Bayard Jordon, Eleanor Speers and Sue Fremon.

The registration fee is $2; pre-registration is encouraged but not necessary. Forms are available at the Princeton Resource Center, the Recreation Department and the Public Library. Completed forms should be sent with a check made out to: Princeton Recreation Dept., Township Hall Annex, 1 Valley Road, Princeton, Attention: Senior Olympics.

S.A.T. COURSE SET

For 11 Sessions. Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Centers, Ltd., test preparation specialists, will offer an S.A. T. preparation program at Nassau Presbyterian Church, beginning Saturday, September 7.

The course consists of 11 sessions and offers extensive homestudy materials and 200 hours of supplementary tests and tapes. Kaplan is a national test preparation company in business since 1938. Based in New York City, it has New Jersey locations in East Brunswick, Florham Park and Hackensack.

For registration, call the East Brunswick office, at (201) 238-2230.

VOLUNTEERS WELCOME

At Carrier Foundation. The Carrier Foundation in Belle Mead, Montgomery Township, seeks volunteers in several different areas.

The Foundation is the largest private, non-profit psychiatric facility in New Jersey. Carrier has 269 beds and treats adults and adolescents with psychiatric illnesses, alcoholism and/or drug problems. There are also outpatient and family therapy services on Carrier grounds.

According to Ruth Sugerman, director of volunteer services, there are many different placements available, and Carrier tries to find the area which best matches the particular interest of the volunteer. Placements are available in adjunclive therapies, patient library, nursing units, patient escort service, admissions, medical library, patient visiting, clerical areas, addiction recovery unit and other locations.

Becoming a volunteer, Ms. Sugerman suggests, allows an individual to use talents, learn new skills, upgrade old skills, meet people, gain new insight, perform groundwork for a career and make a positive contribution to the community.

AREA BUILDING BOOM

Delays Town Hall Addition. A construction boom in the area may cause a delay in building a much needed addition to Hopewell Township's Scotch Road Municipal Building, said township Administrator James Davy last week.

Construction on the 8,000-square-foot addition, which would double the building's current floor space, may be postponed until spring according to Mr. Davy.

"Because builders are really busy now," he explained, "it's possible bids on the work could come in really high. If we solicit bids in December and begin work in spring, we could maximize the competition and get a better price."

Tarquini Associates, an architectural firm that has designed municipal buildings throughout the state, is working closely with the township on plans for the extensive addition.

In the meantime, the township's 75 employees will have to put up with overcrowded offices and halls and closets stacked with boxes of official documents.
